This arrangement takes the standard hymn and expands upon the basic harmony while keeping a traditional feel. It could actually be done with piano only ... everything else is in a sense optional. The brass parts are scored for a traditional brass quintet, or a sextet if the Trombone 2 part is added.

The choral part is optional, as the arrangement could easily be done with the congregation singing in unison. If a choir is desired for the performance, permission is hereby granted to the original purchaser of this music to make copies as needed.

Please see our website for additional arrangements in this series.
